his policies.
"The Democratic National Committee has brought all the elements of the party together; it has the labor vote, and its remarkable accessions of strength from the Republican ranks, together with Mr. Bryan's strength strength from the Republican ranks, togather with Mr. Bryan's strength with the masses, are the reasons why this fiation will turn to Democracy."

Mr. Mack, in a statement to-night, sgain attacked the Republican party for not immediately making their campaign contributions public. The chairman said:

"The denial by Mr. Roosevelt and the danial by Mr. Cortelyou of getting money from the big interests desiring government favors were more vigorous in 1904 than they are to-day. But, after the election, it leaked out that the trusts and allied interests gave big sums, Mr. Harriman himself raising $250,000, which, be says, changed 50,000 votes in New York City alone. Men like John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie were not changed 50,000 votes in New York City alone. Men like John D. Rockerreiler and Andrew Carnegie were not then publicly advocating the ticket and putting their fortunes at the disposal of the Republican committee.
The money paid in then by the Standard Oil trust, the steel trust, Harriman and others, is but a bagatelle compared with the millions which Rockefeller and Carnegie and Morgan are pouring into this campaign in the last days, in the desperate attempt to Stem the resistless tide that will carry Mr.
Bryan into the White House."

Two years ago the party fused with the Democratic and year ago with the Republicans. This year, it is standing alone.
